

This week, we have been learning about words that begin with adjacent consonants.

Level 4

Top Tips

When two or more consonants next to each other in a word each make their own sound, we call them 'adjacent consonants', e.g. 'tr' in trip, 'fl' in flag and 'cr' in crash.

Children need practice in hearing, segmenting and blending words containing adjacent consonants, so they can learn to read and write them fluently.

(n.b. Digraphs, like the 'sh' in crash, are not called adjacent consonants in phonics because the 's' and the 'h' go together to make one sound.)

Can you add sound buttons and bars to the rest of the words? Remember that adjacent consonants have separate sound buttons, whereas digraphs have sound bars.
