Every year, the children looked forward to the puppet show at the summer fair. Basheer was the puppeteer who ran the show. His job was to make the puppets move. As soon as the puppets popped up or peered round the curtain, the children would cheer and clap. They loved the puppet show!

A kind volunteer helped Basheer with the puppets. He had a big beard and was always very cheerful. His name was Kearan.

This year, the show was about a meerkat and a deer. The meerkat was trying to drive his car but the steering wheel came off! The meerkat veered into a bush near the side of the road, bumping his ears and smashing the gears. The children all cheered as the deer appeared, dressed as a superhero. He wiped away the meerkat's tears and fixed the car.

"Hooray for Super Deer!" cheered the children, clapping. Basheer and Kearan came out from the booth and did a bow while the children clapped. They were looking forward to doing it again next year.
